

During our recent Eye Camp in Safi, Morocco...

We met a young girl name Aboulayth Yasmine. She is only 11 years old, and lives in the countryside in Sidi Bennour of the Gharbiya province.

Yasmine had Esotropia, a form of strabismus where one or both eyes cross or turn inward, which could have led her to a life of stigma and sadness. Fortunately, through the successful strabismus surgery performed by our experienced Vision Care pediatric surgeon, we were able to correct her condition and to give her a brighter future filled with hope and opportunities.

Her teacher, who had brought her to our recent Eye Camp, reported that Yasmine is now thriving in school after her surgery – and those around her cannot believe she is the same person.

Her family, teachers and classmates are so happy for her!

On this #GivingTuesday, please support Vision Care, so that children like Yasmine can receive life-transforming surgery for a better future.
